'Extra Time'

Putting your sporting career in perspective

The Covid-19 coronavirus outbreak has brought a new sense of reality to many sports professionals as to what life may be like after their career in sport.

The Mackrell.Solicitors' Sports team are actively encouraging sports stars, athletes and professionals to make the best use of this 'extra time', and think about arranging their personal affairs and plans for the future.

We are currently helping our sports professional clients with:

- Developing and registering sports brands.
- Creating new businesses that support life after sport.
- Writing wills and discussing succession plans.
- Reviewing current contracts and sponsorship/endorsement deals.
- Introducing other professional advisors to help with financial planning (i.e. specialist sports financial advisors, insurers or accountants).

If you would like us to help you make the best use of your "extra time" please contact the Mackrell.Solicitors' Sports team today.
