

RELATIONSHIPS IN LATER LIFE - HERE TO OFFER COMPASSIONATE SUPPORT

As many of us reach the later stages of life we may experience different life events such as the loss of a partner, divorce from a spouse or even living with or marrying a newfound love.

Each of these events requires you to think through your intentions, previous relationships and how your existing children and grandchildren may be affected.

You will no doubt want to have the reassurance that certain protections are in place which ensure that existing family are supported and that your estate is passed to those that you love, while also protecting your interests.

We have assisted lots of couples who are separating, divorcing, cohabiting or marrying in later life and can help with:

- Cohabitation agreements
- Pre and post-nuptial agreements
- Separation agreements
- Children matters, including access to grandchildren
- Financial settlements

As a full service, international law firm we will support you throughout your life both here and abroad, not only providing advice on family and relationships, but also Wills and LPA's, estate and inheritance tax planning and property sales and purchases.
